

Candy all Over the World

By Carolyn

Have you ever dreamt of sugar plums dancing in your head? Well what about Boaton Rice candy or other kinds of odd candy? No? Maybe because it comes from another part of the world. Did you know that candy can come from other countries all over the world?

little gummy and a tad a fizzy nugget. The sour gives "it a really good taste," said candy bloggers. Plus it looks really cool.

Rising Sun Sweets

There is a lot of candy in Japan but here are some that I think are amazing. Boaton rice, Koalma Goth Puccho and Uha Puccho custard.

Boaton Rice Candy is a really cool. They come in a little box, with room in it for a small toy like a tattoo or a little truck. The candy is really made out rice but it looks like a jelly cube. The coolest thing is that the wrapper is edible and that's really cool and good. There is no waste, and the weird thing is that you can plop it right in your mouth without unwrapping.

Koalma Goth Pucchos a chewy candy too. There is not alot about this candy, but it's chewy, bouncy and enjoyable candy. There are two different flavors, grape and strawberry. The colors are dark purple and hot pink and both have black in it.

UHA Puccho Custard is a yummy tasting candy as I heard. It's a bit sour a

Gobble Gobble Candy

Turkish candy is really interesting. There are two that are really good tasting ones, and they are Taddle and Dido.

Taddle is supposed to taste really good. It's a waffle stick with a chocolate coated cream. The ingredients come from all over Europe. They are English, German, Russia, Czech, French, Arabic and maybe Italy. The price is $1.49 and it feels like air.

The Dido look likes the Kit Kat but the wrappers are different. The Dido has a waffle inside like a kit Kat but it does not have real chocolate! YOU HEARD ME, NOT REAL CHOCOLATE! It's a dairy substance and they gave you a hint it's a cheese substance. It is a $.99 and The candy bloggers give a rating and it is 6 out of 10 because it is not made of real chocolate.

Polish candy

I really found one good candy in Poland it is Terry peppermint.

The Terry Peppermint is an odd candy I think. It is chocolate shaped like an orange. It tastes like a grainy kind of taste but sweet and the peppermint takes over. There is a really cool trick to opening the wrapper with the orange in slices. You hit the top of the orange and then unwrap it. The rating is 10 out of 10 and it looks really cool. "The peppermint orange is the best ever," Debbie said. (Don't ask who Debbie is.)

Talk to Me Belgium candy

Dispatch is an odd but cool candy. It is chocolate that you can send to a love one or a friend but with a twist. It can say messages to your friend. It can say hi or your the best, plus you can put stars or blank spots even smiley faces! So if you want to send a funny message then this is for you.

I really hope that I will try all these candies one day and if you would like to compare American candy to other candy go ahead but remember that candy is the best thing in the world. If you would like to learn more go to www.typetive.com/candyblog
